SENATOR BEUTLER: And if the amendment needs to be taken off?

SPEAKER NICHOL: Pardon me?

SENATOR BEUTLER: Then when would it be taken off? If the amendment had to be taken off, when could it be taken off?

SPEAKER NICHOL: Well, are you saying, are you wanting to leave it on Final Reading and not return it and then if it returns tomorrow could it still be read?

SENATOR BEUTLER: I'm just trying to figure out what is the most reasonable way to deal with what I think is a little uncertainty.

SPEAKER NICHOL: I would suggest only that you leave it on Final Reading. By tomorrow if you find out it does not need changing then it is already on Final Reading and you can go ahead and have it final read, read finally. But I think you are all agreed that you don't know whether it needs to be brought back. That, of course, would be up to Senator Lamb because he has made the motion and if he still wants to go ahead with his motion, why...

SENATOR LAMB: No, I would be perfectly happy. It's Senator DeCamp's bill. I think he is the one that is a little bit reticent about passing over it but...

SENATOR DECAMP: Yeah, whatever.

SENATOR LAMB: ...I think that would be the best way to do it.

SENATOR DECAMP: Whatever makes him happy.

SPEAKER NICHOL: I don't think you are in peril yet, but I would suggest that you do it today or tomorrow so that you get it resolved.

SENATOR DECAMP: Okay.
